For organizations looking to enable the entire enterprise with the power of web collaboration, Cisco offers the suite of Cisco WebEx Services - Cisco WebEx Meeting Applications, Cisco WebEx Event Center (Event Center), Cisco WebEx Training Center (Training Center), and Cisco WebEx Support Center (Support Center) - as a bundled licensing option. Now your organization can fully meet its business needs by enabling collaboration for every core team and department - from sales and marketing to product management, engineering, corporate training, human resources, and customer support. Table 1 lists the features of Cisco WebEx Enterprise Edition.

Understanding “Meeting Applications”

Throughout this document we will refer to “WebEx Meeting Applications”. Cisco WebEx Meeting Applications is a general category that includes both Cisco WebEx Meeting Center and also Cisco WebEx Meetings.

- Cisco WebEx Meetings is the next generation Cisco WebEx product line. Much like Meeting Center, it enables the sharing of presentations, documents, applications, and desktops in real time with anyone, anywhere, anytime. WebEx Meetings also includes persistent meeting spaces to support the entire meeting lifecycle.
- Cisco WebEx Meeting Center was replaced by Cisco WebEx Meetings in June 2012, though some customers can still opt to select Meeting Center.

For the purpose of all Enterprise Edition offers, these two applications should be considered interchangeable. The detailed differences between these two applications are outlined in detail in the "What's the Difference" document: http://www.webex.com/go/partner-diffs-overview.

It's important to understand that these two applications will share a single set of SKUs. A partner must only enter the generic "Meeting Application" SKU when submitting an order. After the order has been completed, the partner (or customer) will then have the ability to choose between the two WebEx Meeting Applications as they fill out the provisioning form. If a partner is unsure which to select, they should get guidance via the standard support channels (webexpartnerhelp@cisco.com).

Cisco WebEx Enterprise Edition GPL Procurement Options

You can procure Cisco WebEx Enterprise Edition through the Cisco Global Price List (GPL) using numerous flexible pricing and packaging options designed to meet the business needs of any organization. These options include:

- Employee Count is best suited if your company meets the minimum license quantity requirements and you need to make the WebEx services available to all employees. It also allows you to pay a fixed price regardless of how many users actively use the services.
- Active Host is best suited for a company that meets the minimum license quantity requirements, and wishes to make collaboration available to all employees without having to purchase each employee an individual account. However, unlike the Employee Count, you pay based on the number of users who use the services.
- Named Host is suitable for a company that wants to provide the Cisco WebEx Services for a portion, but not all, of the employees while paying based on the number of users who have access to the service.
- Step-ups are SKUs designed to give customers the ability to upgrade from one licensing model to another. Two types of step-ups are available (Table 2).

Table 2. Types of Step-Ups

Step-Up Category	Step From	Up To	Notes
A*	Ports	Meeting Center Named Host	One Port becomes 10 Named Host subscriptions
B	Meeting Center Named Host	Enterprise Edition Named Host	One Named Host becomes 1 Named Host

* Type A step-ups are available for Cisco WebEx Meeting Center only. It is not possible to step up directly from Ports to Enterprise Edition Named Host.
